

COUNTER THOUGHTS.

What are the old folks thinking about?
Very wonderful things, no doubt.
A wonderful baby and very old head—
He is at the window, and looking out,
And mirrored in his eyes of blue,
As with his eyes they look at you,
He with his eyes, and she with her stockings.
And the little wonder, and so might,
Why old folks always were happy and bright—
And he in his heart,
And she in her heart,
That should have gladly held at his part,
I'll find him as well as I can,
To stay with me till I'm given up to men,
And side by side at three rocking—
I with my pipe, and she with her stocking.
—Mary Alice Dodge in Century.

A CLEVER TRICK.

It was my first circuit in the employment of Hulse & Cooper, wholesale jewelers and silversmiths of Birmingham. My round was an extensive one, embracing the edge of the Scottish highlands, to Inverness in the north. I made the round twice a year, in April and October, traveling with a small collecting party. My turn-out consisted of a horse, a man, a dog, and a gun. They call it the north and I made the journey in short stages, and altogether found the work very pleasant and enjoyable.

I was on my way from Perth to Edinburgh on my southern journey. My calls were over, with the exception of one or two in Stirling and one in Linlithgow before reaching Edinburgh, my headquarters.

"Can I see Mr. Macgregor?" I asked a policeman as I drew up at the door of an obviously flourishing establishment in the High Street of Edinburgh.

"Mr. Macgregor is not in himself. Who is it that's asking for him?"

"Turner, from Hulse & Cooper, Birmingham."

Entered the shop. A man, half gentleman, half farmer, half jockey, was scanning the counter making some purchases. An elderly man came forward to greet me.

"What's come of Mr. Macgregor?" he asked.

"Macgregor was my friend and partner in the firm, but he has died," I said.

"He died?" he asked.

"Yes, he died," I said.

"He died?" he asked.

"Yes, he died," I said.

AN EXAMPLE OF MEDICAL ETIQUETTE.

An illustration of how far some doctors go to preserve dignity.

Within the present week in this city occurred an incident that is typical of the extreme to which positions of quietude may be carried.

A patient lay ill of a raging fever, whose progress apparently had not been prevented or mitigated by the remedies prescribed by the doctor "in charge" of the case.

The patient was not entirely satisfied with the treatment, and was even dissatisfied with the doctor.

A GREAT FISH STORY.

HOW THE REPUTATION OF A TOWN WAS IRREPARABLY RUINED.

Mayville Had a Great Run of Bullheads.

Once and All the Inhabitants of the Place Never Tired of Telling About It, but Nobody Believes It.

I have received permission to tell the story of the great run of bullheads in Mayville, Wis., which was a very remarkable event.

The fish, which were of the species called bullheads, were of a size and number that was never before known in the history of the town.

THAT SURPLUS AGAIN.

There is at least one Democrat who is honest enough to admit that the Congress which has just gone into history was characterized by unprecedented extravagance. Representative Cummings of New York says that it "out-billed the billion-dollar Congress in a shameful manner." Do the Democratic papers howl over this palpable fact in their usual bawling manner when they criticize Republican doings? Oh no; they are usually as reticent as innocent clams on the glaring fact. Their spirit of honesty is repelled by that odious reality. It is their business to shelter, not expose, Democratic abomination.

They say the surplus vanished; and people who heed them, provided they are as much troubled with real or feigned imbecility as themselves, might be led to believe that the surplus was actually thrown away or wasted most imprudently. They are never fair enough to state that it went largely towards extinguishing the interest-bearing National debt; that it represents itself materially in a newly-created navy, and in other things which go to show that our Nation keeps in line with the progress of the age.

Here is another thing that the puny, petty, carping and dishonest Democratic papers are not apt to choose as a subject for their deliberations. They cautiously and systematically ignore it. Attention to such things would play lively havoc with one of their favorite occupations. We refer to the sugar-duty. This amounted to over $200,000,000 during the four years of Mr. Cleveland's first term as President. The duty on sugar was abolished under Republican rule, taking effect April 1, 1891. No less than $125,000,000 of duty on sugar would have gone into the Treasury and helped create a surplus which would have amounted to $189,000,000 at the close of the Harrison Administration. That would have been $67,000,000 greater than the surplus that existed when President Cleveland's term expired. The people got the direct benefit of this enormous sum, which the continued duty on sugar would otherwise have engorged the Treasury with, and thereby robbed the puny, petty carpers of their unenviable business as defamers. It is not a particularly hateful process which saves to the pockets of the people an immense sum of money that would otherwise have gone into the National Treasury, to become a splendid prey to the quenchless greed of that party which has already distinguished itself by having "out-billed the billion-dollar Congress in a shameful manner."

CLEVELAND'S SPOILS CODE.
The Washington correspondent to the New York Press says: From direct statements by President Cleveland Postmaster General Bissell and other members of the Cabinet, made during the week to visiting Congressmen, the following code of rules can now be given as those which will govern all appointments to the public service under this Administration:
First—Incumbents will be retained in office until their commissions expire unless there is voluntary resignation. When there is no commission fixing tenure the efficient incumbent will be permitted to serve for four years from time of appointment.
Second—No one who held office under the former Cleveland Administration will be again appointed to office, the only exceptions being railway mail clerks and postoffice inspectors.
Third—No appointments will be made in States having spring State elections until after the elections have occurred.
Fourth—All postmasters must divorce themselves from private business, excepting instances where, in the fourth class, the pay is so small that postmasters will not give undivided time to the post office.
Fifth—Appointments will not be made upon magnitude of petitions or endorsements alone, but the character, appearance and evident fitness of the applicant for the place must also be considered.
Sixth—As appointments are of an Executive, and not of a political character, recommendations by primary election will not prevail.
Seventh—No exception will be made to rule 2 in favor of applicants who were removed from office by the last Administration before they had served the full term of four years, no matter how brief their service may have been.
Rule 1 does not apply to foreign missions, to the higher grades of consuls and to assistant secretaries and chiefs of bureaus. It is intended, however, to cover that vast class of patronage included in the Post Office, Internal Revenue and Customs service. Rule 2 is flexible, and will be made to cover appointments under the first Cleveland Administration who are still in positions outside of the classified service.

The very first appointment made by this Administration was an exception to this rule. This was the removal of the colored messenger at the door of the President's private secretary and the reappointment of the man who was there when Mr. Lincoln was private secretary. This, however, is insignificant.

Rule 3 is designed to postpone the consideration for office until after full attention has been given to the spring election. It is felt that bitterness may be engendered among defeated candidates and their friends which might bring about spathy at the time of the elections. For this reason all candidates are expected to pay their first attention to the elections, and after that to the office.

BOROUGH AUDITORS.

The office of Borough Auditor is becoming one of the best paying. A few years ago it went begging and those who accepted it did so for the honor and had little or no difficulty to secure it at the polls. It only paid $300 a year for each of the three officers in those times, and occasionally it was hard to get that much. Now the auditors get $25 each for auditing the Borough Council accounts, $15 or $20 each for auditing the School Board accounts, and this year the County Commissioners will be asked to allow $15 for the trouble in looking after each poll, so that will give each of the Auditors about $75. It seems a high figure when compared with the old time compensation, yet when one takes into consideration the time the Auditors must give to the examination of accounts, the scrutinizing of checks and vouchers, the running about to have this and that explained and the preparation of the report for publication, besides the duties required by the Baker ballot law the compensation is none too much.—Shenandoah Herald.

—An exchange tells the story of a boy who was sent to market with a sack of roasting ears and after lingering around town all day, came home without selling them. When his mother asked him why he had not sold the corn he said that no one had asked him what was in the sack. There are many merchants like that little boy. They have plenty of goods but they fail to tell the public what they have in their sack.

—The main purpose of paint is to preserve; a secondary one to beautify. Wood is subject to decay, metals to rust, stone to scale and crumble. Paint preserves these. How well or for how long depends on the quality of the paint. A good pure linseed oil paint with the finest turpentine driers and well ground colors, is known as "Chilton" brand, and it is only another name for perfection in paints. It is so well and carefully made, that half a gallon of it will cover properly almost as much surface as a gallon of other paint. Besides this, it preserves from decay for a longer time any material it covers. It has a good solid body, gives a beautiful gloss to the work, and earns admiration wherever it is used. Only reliable dealers sell it. You can make an arrangement with them that they will allow you what you paid for all unopened packages which you return in good condition. Thus you have no paints for future generations to stumble over in the cellar. If you want to paint your house economically and well and not have to paint again for years, use Chilton.

To Get at the Facts

Regarding Hood's Sarsaparilla, ask the people who take this medicine, or read the testimonials often published in this paper. They will certainly convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses unequalled merit, and that HOOD'S CURE.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

Could Not Open His Eyes. I took him twice during that time to the Eye and Ear Infirmary on Charles street, but his remedies failed to do him the faintest shadow of good. I commenced giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and it soon cured him. I have never doubted that it saved his sight, even if not his very life. You may use this testimony in any way you choose. I am always ready to sound the praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla because of the wonderful good it did my son." ANNE F. BLACKMAN, 2888 Washington St., Boston, Mass. Get HOOD'S.

HOOD'S PILLS are hand made, and are perfect in composition, proportion and appearance.

—Great is the pun. It sometimes startles the caves of laughter like a flash of ready wit. The other evening a number of staid school directors and merry hearted teachers were examining the handwork which the school youngsters had so creditably prepared to be sent to Chicago, to help give tone and character to the big fair. A group of the aforesaid grave and gay ones stood before some anatomical pencilings, admiring and extolling them. These included a rather healthy-looking heart, but not a sad one, for it probably helped advanced cheerful thoughts. Conspicuous among the bony shapes, comprising a first and second joint, a gracefully-curved vertebra, looking like a pretty stiff back-bone, and other mysteries of the human structure, was an admirably-drawn picture of the symmetrical bones of the human chest, all in good order, without a suggestion of tight-lacing, containing the spare-ribs and all the others. One of the sober spectators, probably having a dim recollection of his far-back school-day exercises, smartly likened this osseous structure to a "basket." Had anybody then and there offered a prize for the best pun, to be "struck off" instantly, Director Barrett would easily have been the winner. With maiden-like modesty and fancy free, that modest individual quietly called it a "wicker basket." Nobody laughed, of course, more than such a perpetration justified, and without a sign of opposition, Mr. B. immediately took his earned place at the head of an imaginary class, with all his radiant blushing thick upon him.

As a household remedy it cannot be excelled.—Mr. L. E. Bruckett, 459 Church Street, Norfolk, Va., writes: "I suffered a great deal from nervous headache, more or less, and found no relief until I tried Salvation Oil. I now recommend it to my friends as a household remedy that cannot be surpassed."

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once.

A God-send is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed, and I thought no more would heal. Your Balm has cured me.—Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

A tickling sensation of the throat, a piping voice and a disposition to expectorate frequently, are the forerunners of a dangerous throat affection. The bronchial trouble often develops into consumption, unless checked by the timely use of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Beware!

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she became a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Woman, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Ceylon Flannels.

The unshrinking Flannels. That alone was enough to jump them into highest favor.

But the makers didn't stop there. Prettier and prettier year by year.

Elegancies in Ceylons now that lift them into the high art circle of Dress Goods.

Delightful color plays. New tricks of weave. Silk glints now and then.

Crowding some of the old-time favorites to the wall.

What wonder! Flannel softness and beauty with the sturdiness and stay-there qualities of Cotton Goods.

Sixty feet of counter for the Ceylons alone. A Cliff Dweller's village of shelf room beheld it.

And a bouncing bargain beside, 30 in. Ceylon Flannel at 18c—regularly 30c.

Plaid.

Always Plaids, but never such art triumphs as now.

No matter what fresh loveliness comes in a Dress Stuff, sooner or later the Plaid idea is almost sure to touch it with a new elegance.

See it in the Taffetas and the Serges; see it most strikingly in the Eplingines—those exquisite weaves that so many women are getting to know—and to admire.

Silk glints, dainty dyes, free off-hand dashes and delicate handlings that hardly suggest a tint—all these count in the new Plaids. Dreamer, dresser, prettier than the Plaids of any other season.

Nine tell the type story as well as fifty would.

Women's Capes.

More than five hundred distinct styles—reviving almost every Cape gracefulness of the past, and enriching it with the best fashion wit of to-day.

Capes on Capes. That feature predominates. Sometimes two, sometimes three, sometimes five little Capelets, one above the other like that on a roof.

Francis I Capes. Alhambra Capes. Loie Capes—Parisian craze.

Dozens of styles with the popular Duchess of Guise collars—ribbon trimmed, braided, embroidered, feather edged, beautified in a hundred ways. Modest priced, too.

Do you know the points of excellence in a Bicycle? Yes? Then try the Atalanta by the measure. See if it isn't at the very forefront for everything desirable in a wheel—lightness, trimness, strength, speed. "Price $150" say you? No. That's the wonder of wonders—ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY DOLLARS!

NOW IS THE TIME

For those who are planning for summer tours and excursions during

to look about them, read, and reflect upon how, when and where they will go when the time of vacation arrives.

THE GREAT WORLD'S FAIR

will be an event to many in more ways than one. Not only will it be an epoch in many a life, in the immense exposition shown, the display of what human brains and ingenuity can accomplish, but it will also be a thing to be remembered from the fact that it will be the basis for extended trips to see the sights, scenes and resources of our vast country.

In this connection remember that the NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD traverses the Wonderland of America. The plains, lake and mountain scenery found along its line is unsurpassed. It is the only line running to the borders of the YELLOWSTONE PARK.

Keep this line in mind in your plans and write for tourist matter, maps, folders, time-tables, etc., to CHAS. S. FEE, Gen. Pass. & Ticket Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS OF THE BURGESS—THE REPORTS OF COMMITTEES, ETC.

LAST REGULAR MEETING OF THE OLD COUNCIL—THE FAREWELL ADDRESS OF THE BURGESS—THE REPORTS OF COMMITTEES, ETC.

The last regular meeting of the present Burgess and Council was held in the Council Chamber, on Monday evening. There were present Messrs. Ikenmore, Burgess, and Clark, Grundy, Kelley, Maule, Strauser, Smith, Spring, Scott, Weaver, Whitley, Wright and Wood, Council.

The Finance committee presented the annual statement of the Borough Treasurer, which showed a balance in the treasury of $1,697.15; also, a communication from the Corporation Attorney stating that the delinquent taxes of 1891 were uncollectible, from the fact that the collector's accounts had been settled and his bondsmen released.

The Police committee reported three arrests for the month, and 62 traps being lodged in the station house.

The clerk reported the correspondence between the Borough and the Bristol Water Company, ending in the refusal of the latter to endorse on the old contract their offer to furnish water to the Borough free of charge. On motion the communication from the clerk of the Water Company and the old contract were ordered to be filed.

The delinquent taxes against the property on Radcliffe street, occupied by O. Tharion McAdam, was referred to the collector for his action.

The Financial statement of the Borough was received and referred to the Finance committee to have published.

On motion of Joseph R. Grundy Mr. Thos. B. Harkins, the Burgess-elect, was invited to a seat by the side of Burgess Fenimore.

The Sanitary and Poor committee reported that six indigent persons had been conveyed to the almshouse, and that four samples of water analyzed two had been pronounced unfit for use.

The returns of constable Wilkinson of warrants placed in his hands were received, and he was relieved of further liability.

The returns of constable Fallon were referred back for correction.

The returns of Constable Wright were incomplete and referred back to him for further report.

The returns of constable Saxton were received and he was relieved of further liability.

A communication from the State Board of Health calling attention to a bill before the Legislature, authorizing boroughs to establish local Boards of Health, and to increase the appropriation to the State Board, was read, and the clerk was instructed to notify Bucks county's representatives that the bill met with Bristol Council's approval.

A communication from Charles E. Scott, the Bristol member of the Philadelphia Board of Port Wardens, calling at attention to the fact that the channel between Burlington and Bristol is now but 100 feet wide and seven feet deep, and asking that a resolution be passed urging Major Raymond of the U. S. Engineer Corps to have the channel improved, was read, and a resolution adopted as requested.

An invitation from the members of Fidelity Council, No. 21, Jr. O. U. A. M. to the members of Council to be present at the exercises incident to the presentation of flags to the Bristol Public Schools, on Tuesday, March 28, was received and filed, and on motion the invitation was accepted with thanks and the clerk directed to send a notification to that effect.

On motion the unfinished business of this Council was referred to the incoming Council for action.

On motion of Joseph R. Grundy the petitions to the State Legislature, for the removal of the debt limit of the Borough, were placed in the hands of George W. Strauser, Chairman of the Council Committee, in connection with the Borough Attorney and a member of the Citizens' Committee to present to the Legislature, and an appropriation sufficient to defray the expenses ordered.

Chairman Strauser reported that over 900 signatures had been obtained to the petitions.

On motion the Street Committee was authorized to notify the owner of the property on the S. W. corner of Pond and Dorrance street to pave the Pond street side fronting his property.

Bills amounting to $806.66 were passed.

The Burgess then addressed Council as follows:

GOVERNMENT OF THE COUNCIL OF THE BOROUGH OF BRISTOL:

In accordance with the requirements of the Charter of the Borough, and following the precedents established, it is my pleasure and privilege, as well as my duty, to lay before you a report of the work of the Corporation for the past year.

Exercising legislative functions, you have enacted the following Ordinances: On May 9, 1892, "An Ordinance authorizing a temporary loan of one thousand dollars, for the purpose of paying bills for current expenses maturing prior to July 1st, 1892;" Also, "An Ordinance to appropriate money for the use of the Borough of Bristol, for the year ending Feb'y 28, 1893."

On Aug. 8, 1892, "An Ordinance to curd and pave Penn Street." On Aug. 31, 1892, "An Ordinance approving of contracts with Barbour & Ireland for macadamizing Bath St., and with J. H. Longstreth for removal of garbage.

On Oct. 10, 1892, "An Ordinance to accept as a public highway, a certain fifteen foot alley extending from Wood Street to Pond Street, near Jefferson Avenue."

Also, "An Ordinance authorizing the lease of Franklin St., between Radcliffe St. and the Delaware river, to William Wilson, and ratifying leases made to Bristol School Board, to the Upper Delaware River Transportation Co., and to Wm. E. and Kate H. Doran."

On Nov. 14, 1892, "An Ordinance to abolish the keeping of pigs within the corporate limits of the Borough of Bristol."

On Feb'y 13, 1893, "An Ordinance supplementary to an Ordinance for the systematic numbering of the buildings now erected, and hereafter to be erected, fronting upon the streets of the Borough of Bristol, D. 1891."

Exercising executive functions, you have, mainly through the work of your several standing Committees, accomplished in brief, as follows:

Through your Committee on Finance and Public Property, you have carefully watched the finances of the Borough, and have looked closely after the public property, but the work of this Committee is so fully shown in detail in the financial statement, that I will not enlarge upon it here, further than to remark that the year closes with a comfortable balance on the right side of the account, a condition of affairs to which you are largely indebted to the careful, intelligent and pains taking attention of the Chairman of that Committee.

Through your Committee on Streets and Highways, you have macadamized Bath St. from Otter St. to Buckley; you have paved with Belgian blocks that part of Mill Street lying between the Canal bridge and the Pennsylvania Railroad; you have made a good beginning in the placing of permanent monuments to mark the lines of the streets; you have placed a number of iron covers over the gutter crossings; you have laid down various flag-stone street crossings; you have had a new bridge built over the canal at Jefferson Avenue; you have placed several additional lights on the public streets; you have considerably progressed with the systematic numbering of the houses of the Borough; you have, during the past winter, kept the street crossings reasonably clear of snow, and in the main have maintained the public streets and highways in as good condition as the means at your disposal would warrant.

Through your Committee on Fire Protection, the apparatus of the two fire companies of the Borough has been kept in a proper degree of efficiency, and several necessary articles have been added to their equipment. It is the opinion of this Committee, however, that an additional thousand feet of hose will be necessary to fully complete that equipment.

Through your Committee on Police, you have maintained the peace and good order of the Borough to a highly satisfactory degree, and have taken care that houseless and homeless wanderers should be kept under proper surveillance while in the town. This work has been done with a force scarcely adequate in numbers, to the duty exacted from it.

Through your Committee on Sanitary and Poor, you have had to deal with an exceptional state of affairs, and the following from the Chairman of that Committee, in answer to my request, so fully details its work, that I give it to you as written: "The first act of the Committee was to make a thorough and careful inspection of the whole Borough. All unclean alleys were ordered to be put in a healthful condition, bad drainage carefully corrected, and every known nuisance ordered abated. Many indigent persons have been relieved, and seven transported to the County Almshouse. Twelve people begging assistance have been forwarded to Frankford and Trenton. The poor have been supplied with medicine and medical attendance, and bills amounting to $60 have been paid therefor. The Committee found it necessary in August, to issue a circular relative to the prevention of Cholera, and a copy placed in the hands of every family within the Borough limits. Again in November, a circular relative to the prevention of diphtheria was issued and circulated, and in January, Circular No. 1, for the purpose of checking the spread of Typhoid Fever.

"Precautionary measures were taken with regard to the water supply, and the services of a medical inspector from the State B and of Health were secured. Four samples of the Borough water were forwarded to an expert analyst, two of which were pronounced unfit for use, the other two considered proper for drinking purposes. An Ordinance to prohibit the keeping of pigs within the corporate limits of the Borough after March 1st, 1893, was framed, and placed before the Borough Council, and was carried. The garbage has been satisfactorily removed from all parts of the Borough, every 48 hours throughout the year."

Several matters of great importance to the community were placed in charge of special Committees. Of these matters, that relating to the revision of the Ordinances of the Borough, is still in the hands of its Committee, and although a large amount of attention and work has been bestowed upon it, it is not yet in shape for final presentation. Also the matter of the applications for the privilege of the use of the public streets by electric railways, remains undecided, and it is likely that these matters may have to be passed on to your successors for final action. The renewal of the contract with the Bristol Water Co., for a water supply for the fire hydrants of the town, has been effected on a basis favorable to the finances of the Borough, the Water Co. donating the water used for such service.

All this constitutes in the main, your work for the past year, and taken in connection with the work of the previous year, makes a record with which the administration of the affairs of the Borough, as represented by the result of the election of Feb'y 1891, must of need be content. How far it has justified prediction or fulfilled hope, is not for me to say. And now, gentlemen of the Council, having briefly outlined to you the operations of the past year, permit me to claim the privilege of one who has had, and still retains, a deep interest in the welfare of the Borough, of speaking to you of the future. The work of the past two years has been largely preliminary. Its object has been to place the business matters of the Borough on a strictly business basis, and to make that basis so firm and broad, that subsequent legislation may have ample room on which to stand and expand itself in the direction of, and in accordance with, a liberal, progressive and comprehensive plan.

That plan in its entirety, contemplates providing the Borough with a satisfactory system of sewers; with a satisfactory system of properly paved streets, which shall at all times be satisfactorily lighted; with a satisfactory system of protection from damage by looking after and caring for the public health. To you and your successors is committed the task of arranging the detail, by means of which, step by step, these results may be finally accomplished.

An important move in the proper direction has already been made, in the application to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth for the restrictive clause in the Borough Charter which prevents the Borough from obtaining the means whereby to prosecute the necessary work. I most sincerely trust that no divided sentiment will mar the efficacy of the present unity of feeling on this subject. It is a matter of deep-seated and keen regret, that it seemed needful for wasting upon our people, before action in this direction seemed to offer any hope of success, and I should consider it a dark day for Bristol, should such effort be relaxed.

You must have nerve enough to pursue your way toward the attainment of the desirable benefits mentioned, undimmed by the frantic shrieks of so-called economists, and the more dangerous, because insidious, wiles of the political demagogue. You must understand that so long as you return to the community a fair proportion of the money exacted from it in taxes, you will be fully sustained, and that when you cease to do that, you will be "turned down," as you deserve to be.

You must not be led away by the specious cry of "low tax," or "high tax," for such cries, coming from those who generally use them, mean precisely the reverse of what they really are. A tax of ten cents, of which but three cents are returned in the shape of results, is an infinitely higher tax than one of ten dollars, of which ten hundred cents are so returned. Therefore pay no heed to such cries, they are meaningless and misleading, but use all your energies for the procuring for the Borough of Bristol, as rapidly as is consistent with good business management, and at as reasonable a price as possible, all the advantages that modern science can offer, to make her pre-eminent in the Commonwealth, as a well sewered, well paved, well lighted, healthy town.

Gentlemen of the Council, as this regular meeting probably marks the end of my official career with you, I experience a feeling of mixed pleasure and of sadness. Pleasure, that I am about to be relieved of the duties and responsibilities of office, and that I must sever the pleasant relations that have existed between us for the past two years. And this feeling of sadness because intensified by the reflection that I shall also cease to be a citizen of your Borough. Ten years ago I came among you, a stranger. You have been kind to me, far beyond my deserving. If I have been able, even in a slight degree, by a sacrifice of time and inclination, and by a devotion of such talents as I possessed, to the work to which you called me, to repay that kindness, I am truly thankful. The years that I have passed in the service of the Borough, have been, to me, pleasant years. The work I did was a labor of love, for I have learned to love old Bristol, and if at times I may have seemed harsh, and given stronger blows than could be fairly termed "love taps," it was with no intention to wound, but merely to "wake her up," and have her take an interest in life, and induce her to assume the place to which her honored history and magnificent location, so justly entitle her. In dropping my citizenship here, I take it up again at some distant point. I shall be near enough to you to feel your pulse-beats and know how life is running its course with you, and as you keep on in the good work of broadening and strengthening the foundations of your local government, and rearing thereon a splendid edifice of material prosperity that shall be the admiration and envy of all beholders, no one will be more heartily rejoice, no one will be afforded more pleasure, than he who now says to you, Farewell.

Dr. Weaver offered the following: WHEREAS, The term of office of the present Burgess, Francis Fenimore, will expire before the next regular meeting of Council, and he will then cease to be a resident of this Borough, therefore,

Resolved, That Council desires to place on record its sincere regret at losing the services of one who has presided over its deliberations with so much courtesy, dignity and impartiality, has manifested an unflinching zeal in conducting the varied affairs of the municipality under his charge, and has shown the greatest personal interest in the prosperity and welfare of the Borough, and we hereby tender him our heart-felt wishes for his prosperity and happiness in all his future relations.

Resolved, That an engrossed copy of these resolutions, signed by the President and members of Council, and by the Town Clerk, with the Seal of the Borough affixed, be presented to the retiring Burgess as a testimonial of our respect and esteem.

After authorizing the publication of the Burgess' farewell address in the borough papers, Council adjourned.

The new ferry boat of the Burlington and Bristol Steamboat Ferry Company is expected to be launched some day next week. This Company is said to hold the oldest charter in the United States, which was granted to William Penn, by England, on June 10, 1694.

The Ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Bristol, gave a reception at the parsonage, yesterday evening, the occasion being the re-appointment of the Rev. E. E. Burris to the church here. An excellent supper was provided, and much pleasure in the return of the popular pastor for about eight o'clock a public reception in the church was held. The building was crowded with the members of the church and the friends of the pastor. During the evening a very handsome pocket communion service was presented, Rev. Fred F. Quicksall making the presentation speech. A fine gold handled umbrella, and a handsome rug made by the young folks connected with the Epworth League, were also among the gifts. Some excellent vocal and instrumental music during the evening added to the enjoyment of the occasion.
